WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24. 1739.

Coblentz, Jan. 9. O. S.

THEY write from Bacharach, that a Fire broke out there lately, by which the Town-house, 2 Towers, and 40 Houses were consumed.

Genoa, Jan. 6. O. S. We have the following Letter from a Lorain Gentleman in the Great Duke of Tuscany's Family, which is performing Quarantain near Verona.

'We have been here ever since the 17th of December O. S. and as strictly guarded, as if there was not the least Doubt of our being infected with the Plague. The Great Duke and Dutchess, who are in the Palace of Buri, have only a few of their Attendance; and we are confin'd in a Cell-house, where we have no Communication with any living Soul. All manner of Provisions are brought to us three times a Week, and plac'd at the Entrance of our Barrier, to which we send for them; but the Persons that bring them retire with such Speed, that if they do us the Honour to speak to us, 'tis at a Distance, and with Abundance of Compliments and Excuses for not daring to come near us. The Barrier is guarded by Soldiers of the Republick, who keep strict Watch Day and Night, to hinder any of our People from attempting to get out of their Prison. The Character of Britain here, has nevertheless something in it that is comical; and for the first three or four Days it made us merry; but in Truth we b gin all to be heartily tir'd of it. We count the Days with the last Degree of Impatience. Eleven are already past, and after 11 more we shall be set at Liberty, for 'tis intended that we shall have the very great Honour to be obliged to no longer a Quarantain than 21 Days. We have received a Visit from the Physicians, who have kindly admonish'd us to take the Remedies by way of Precaution; but we have thank'd them for their Care of us, and assur'd them, that we stood in need of no Remedy but Patience. The Baron de K——, being under an indispensable Necessity to speak with the Great Duke, he with some Difficulty obtain'd Leave to repair to the Palace of Buri He tells us, that their Highnesses are at least as much disgusted with their Situation as we are, especially Prince Charles. We may depend on what this Prince says, we shall break the Quarantain To-morrow, and quit the State of Venice with all the Speed that can be: And the Great Duke has wrote to the Senate, representing, that after all, the Quarantain which he performs is a Matter of pure Complaisance, and not at all necessary, and that therefore he desires it may be shorten'd, and an End put to a Ceremony which all Mankind must think so extraordinary: For is it credible, that, if the Plague was, I will not say at Vienna, but only 10 Miles from it, their Imperial Majesty's, or any of the Nobility, or any Foreign Minister, would stay there 24 Hours. Prince Pio, the Imperial Ambassador at Venice, is expected with their Highnesses in three Days. We long to know what Comfort he will bring us from the Magistrates of Health. To conclude, tho' the Venetian Gentry keep us in some measure Captives, they do however regale us very handsomely: Flesh, Fish, and the best Wine in the Country, are furnish'd us in Plenty; they have also been so good as to furnish our Rooms with Stoves after the Manner of Germany, which I really believe is the first Time that any such Conveniencies have been seen in the State of Venice.'

The above Letter is dated from the Pest-house at Verona the 27th of December O. S.

Venice, Dec. 29 O. S. They write from Verona, that the Great Duke and Dutchess of Tuscany have received a noble Present there from the Republick of Venice, consisting of Parcellane and Chrystal Wares, Wax Candles, Sweet-meats of all Sorts, exquisite Perfumes, Gold Stuffs, and variety of other Things; but that for all the Methods taken by the Republick to sweeten the Mortifications of their Highnesses Quarantain, they are disgusted with it beyond Expression. A Messenger came from them two Days ago, whose Dispatches have alarm'd the Senate not a little. We are assured, that his Royal Highness talks in a high Strain, and insinuates, that possibly he shall be gone before the Term of 3 Weeks, to which the Quarantain is limited. The Emperor's Ambassador, Prince Pio, is set out this Morning for Verona, to confer with his Royal Highness, and to let him know what Resolution the Senate has taken. Four Stoves are plac'd in their Highnesses Apartments, after the Manner of Germany; and are every Week accommodated with a Regale of Fish, and another of Flesh, which costs each 1000 Ducats. The Palace where they perform their Quarantain, is about a Mile and half from Verona. The Magistrates of Health have taken Care to surround it with a Row of Chevaux de Frise, and 100 Grenadiers keep Watch Day and Night at the Avenues which lead to it. Their Highnesses Retinue are shut up in a Pest-house, built near the said Palace.

The Diversions of the Carnival have been disturb'd by a Storm, of which the oldest Man living does not remember the like. It began last Saturday in the Evening, and continued all Night with such Violence, as if the whole City was going to be swallow'd up in the Sea that surrounds it. Next Morning there fell such a Quantity of Snow, that all the Parts about the City were cover'd with it to the Depth of 3 Feet, and since that Time it continues to be colder than was ever known in these Parts. All the Inhabitants being in a manner block'd up in their Houses by this prodigious Quantity of Snow, the Magistrates of Health have been obliged to employ a great Number of Labourers to clear the Bridges and Kays of the City.

Rome, Dec. 23. O. S. Lopez Rosa the Banker, has made a Contract with the Apostolical Chamber, whereby he engages to coin a Million of Crowns per Annum in Sequins, besides 500,000 Crowns in Silver Specie, provided the Chamber give him the Value in Wool, Corn and other Commodities. If this Undertaking be duly supported and encouraged, the Ecclesiastical State will, in 10 Years time, have quite another Face: For as the Exportation of Corn out of the Country was never yet allow'd, and as the Lands are capable of producing twice the Quantity of what is spent in the Ecclesiastical State, which is at this time very thin of People; the best Lands have lain fallow, while the Husbandman abandons himself to a scandalous Idleness, rather than he will take the Pains to fill his Barns with Corn, of which he can expect no Vent that will make him amends for his Trouble. But now that this fatal Principle seems to be making its Exit, 'tis to be presum'd that the Lands will be cultivated, and that the Exportation of the Produce will remedy that Scarcity of Money which the State has suffered since it neglected to favour Commerce.

Madrid, Dec. 19. O S. We hear that our Court has acceded to the Definitive Treaty of Vienna, on the following Terms, viz. That it shall not guarantee the Pragmatick Sanction; That the Pretensions of the King of the Two Sicilies to the allodial Estates of Tuscany, Parma and Placentia, shall be adjusted before March next; and that his Sicilian Majesty and the Duke of Lorain, shall appoint Commissioners to settle the Limits of the Dominions of the State Del Præsidii.

IRELAND.

Dublin, Jan. 13. Early Yesterday Morning Mr. Nichol's, an Apothecary's Shop in Church-street, took Fire, and in a short Time destroy'd 5 Houses. The Rt. Hon. the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs were very active in extinguishing the Flames; as likewise his Honour the Master of the Rolls, by giving Directions to the Firemen; which had a happy Effect, as there was a very high Wind. It is said the Fire was occasioned by some Carpenters leaving their Shavings burning in a Garret, while they went to drink some Purl.

By Letters from Tralee we are informed, that on the 5th Instant died in an advanced Age, Edward Herbert, of Kilcow in the County of Kerry, Esq; a Gentleman of an exceeding good Character, and very much lamented: His Father was appointed High Sheriff of that County immediately on the Restoration of King Charles the Second; and he himself twice in the Reign of King William the Third, and once in the Reign of Queen Anne; and was in the Commission of the Peace for the Counties of Cork and Kerry, in those two Reigns, and the subsequent Reigns of King George the First, and his present Majesty.

Last Wednesday Morning was found dead in his Bed (being very well the Night before) at his Seat at Redhill in the County of Cavan, Thomas White, Esq; he was a Gentleman very much esteem'd by his Neighbours, and all that knew him; he was very Religious and Charitable to the Poor, and his Death is universally lamented in that Country. He is succeeded in his Estate by his only Son Francis White, Esq;

Last Week a Seizure was made of a large Quantity of Tobacco near Roscarbery; but the Officers of the Revenue fearing a Rescue, desir'd the Assistance of a Serjeant and 10 Men, from the Company of the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Rothes's Regiment in the Barracks of Roscarbery: On their March to Kinsale, they were attack'd by a Mob near Clonnekitty, who endeavoured to Rescue the Seizure, and being press'd by the Mob, the Officers ordered them to Fire, which they did, and kill'd three of them; whereupon the rest dispersed, and the Seizure was carried to the Custom-house of Kinsale.

We are inform'd that Mr. Æneas Bean, Silk Merchant in Fleet-street, had for some time past formed a Design of marrying Mrs. Sarah Hoope, Widow, of this City; and had found Means to send her Letters, which proving ineffectual, he was resolved to obtain her by Force. To accomplish his Design, he had got several Accomplices, armed with Swords and Pistols, who, on Sunday Night last, between 7 and 8 of the Clock, got the Maid to knock at the Door of Mr. John Petticrew, Merchant, in the said Street, where Mrs. Hoope lodg'd, to borrow the said Petticrew's Tea-Kettle. As soon as the Door was opened, the said Bean and his Accomplices rush'd forcibly into the House and Room where she and her Friends were, and held their Pistols to the Breasts of both Men and Women, and vow'd and swore their Deaths if either they spoke or stirr'd. Such a fearful Sight and Usage made Mrs. Hoope faint away; and in that Disorder they carried her off to Bean's House, where they fastened the Door, and threw up the Sashes up Stairs, and call'd to the People in the Street, that she had freely consented to be married, and that the Ceremony was then performing: But being closely pursued with Force, she was rescued, and Bean taken and lodg'd in Newgate, where he continues. Mr. Francis Russel, Merchant, and Mr. Petticrew, were both wounded in preserving her from being carried off.

Dublin, Jan. 16. On Saturday Night last began and ended here with the Eclipse of the Moon, the violentest and greatest Storm that ever was known by any Person living; it threw down the great Stacks of Chimnies belonging to the Lord Chief Justice Reynolds, and an adjoining House in York-street, and drove thro' the Houses and broke the main Beams, and blew down a Corner of the Deanery-House belonging to Christ Church, lately built in Fishamble-street, and likewise the Front of a new House in Francis-street, and an almost innumerable Number of Chimnies were blown down, and all our Houses almost stripp'd of their Slates and Tiles. A Ship from New England had no sooner arrived in the Harbour and cast her Anchors, than she was obliged either to slip her Anchors and Cables, or was drove from them, and make to Sea. It is greatly fear'd that we shall hear of great Losses and Shipwrecks. As yet we can expect no true Account of the Damages done by that Hurricane.

We are inform'd that there are Letters in Town, giving an Account, that the Persons accused of the Murder of Lieutenant John Hume at Roscrea, in the County of Tipperary, the 28th of September last, and for the taking of whom considerable Rewards have been offer'd by their Excellencies the Lords Justices and Capt. George Johnson, are now apprehended and secured.

We are inform'd, that a Knot of Rogues who infest the County of Kilkenny, having Notice that a Number of Gentlemen of that County had formed a Design

Deſign of having them either taken or killed, were reſolved to be even with the Gentlemen, ſo got ſome People to give Notice that they were at ſuch a Place, and might eaſily be taken; as the Gentlemen were going to the Place, the Rogues, who lay in Ambuſcade, fired on them, and mortally wounded 4 of them, and afterwards made all ſafely off.
